POLLY

LENDER INTELLIGENCE

Enterprise, competitive, profitability, and market intel.

The industry's first real-time, actionable, and fully customizable analytics and data visualization tool - designed to maximize the profitability of every loan across every channel.

Purpose-built using advanced data science and machine learning tools, Polly's Lender Intelligence product delivers an unprecedented amount of visibility to stakeholders. Dynamic and fully customizable dashboards facilitate informed, data-driven margin and pricing decisions amid unpredictable market shifts, enabling lenders to optimize their margins and any other lever they can pull to drive down the cost of origination and maximize every basis point of value. Lenders can also license Polly's raw data for use with existing in-house tools.

- Evaluate your competitive standing to benchmark pricing and margins against peers.
- Access highly granular margin and lock data, including day-one margin and profitability metrics on a loan-level basis. This allows for profitability analysis based on an unlimited number of parameters.
- Optimize margin and price strategies, reduce origination costs, and identify new opportunities to drive bottom-line revenue.
- Maintain a long-term competitive position.

8-10 HOURS
saved weekly on detailed report generation

10% REDUCTION
in origination costs by optimizing operations

INCREASE BPS
maximize profitability per loan from competitive operational insights

UNIFIED SOLUTION
enterprise, competitive, and market analytics

> This end-to-end approach to analytics and data visualization represents the next era of mortgage innovation. After all, every basis point matters. The optimal strategy for lenders looking to get ahead is to spot trends early and let data guide their strategic decisions.

Loan metric evaluation

Assess granular loan metrics to quickly isolate and identify areas of deficiency and opportunity, empowering teams to make more informed strategic decisions that improve performance and profitability.

Production trends

Advanced volume benchmarking enables users to compare loan production to the market and track trends over specific time periods, facilitating confident decisioning and strategic planning.

Profitability insights

Confirm current market standing, optimize margin and price strategies, reduce costs, and identify new trends and opportunities to drive bottom-line revenue.

Lock data monitoring

Gain insights into transactional lock data that is critical to optimizing mortgage operations. Understand trends across an unlimited number of parameters, including product, geography, loan size, note rate, channel, branch, loan officer, lock desk workflow, and much more.

Price comparison

Assess competitiveness and fine-tune margins for optimal revenue generation. Polly's granular analysis of margin data ensures accurate positioning against competitors.

Single source of truth

Unlike other siloed data applications available in the market, Lender Intelligence unites enterprise, competitive, and market analytics in one holistic and comprehensive data solution.

Raw data access

Polly's Lender Intelligence product is also available via raw data access for organizations that leverage proprietary in-house data solutions or an internal data warehouse.

© Polly 2024. All rights reserved.